TAKE THREE OUT OF FOUR GAMES FROM THE WASHINGTONS.

Manlon's Men Still Tied with Chicago New Yorks Beaten by the Philadelphias Boston Defeats Baltimore Again-St. Louis Outplays Cincinnati - Pittsburg Wins.

The Brooklyns captured another game from the Washingtons yesterday, thereby making three victories out of four games played with Irwin's team. Hanlon's men are still tied with the Chicagos, who feasted on some of that Cleveland pie. The Philadelphias defeated the New Yorks and managed to keep ahead of Brooklyn and Chicago by a narrow margin. Reston best Baltimore again in a close game and passed the Cincinnatis, who were easily disposed of by the St. Louis leaders. Pittsburg whipped Louisville and approached to within striking distance of the New Yorks. The results: Philadelphia, 7, New York, 3.

Ticher Fishel of the Columbia University team received a trial with the New Yorks against the Philadelphias at the Polo Grounds yesterday and, all things considered, he did excellent work. Fishel had pitched against several League teams before over at Weehawken on Sundays under the name of "Foster," and had shown up so well that Manager Day concluded to try him out. Barring two innings, in which the Columbia boy lacked steadiness, he had the big Quaker batsmen breaking their backs. Grady caught him in the first two innings, but gave way to Warner, who coached the young man with discretion and care. Fishel did not receive the best sup-port, and the New Yorks also failed to hit with men on bases. These things were alone discouraging, but the collegian kept at hit with men on bases. These things were alone discouraging, but the collegian kept at his task pluckly throughout. With the exception of the second and ninth innings, the Philadelphias succeeded in making only three hits. Fished struck out six men, including the great Labole. He gave six bases on balls, two of which were turned into runs, and also forced a tally home by hitting a batsman. After the game Manager Day was so well pleased with Fishel's performance that he determined to sign him at once. Fishel will graduate from Columbia next month and will then go on the second Western trip with the local Lasquers.

The New Yorks were deprived of runs in two innings in lucky fashion. With Doyle and O Brien holding second and first bases respectively in the sixth. Hartman sent a fly to Thomas. Doyle left his base before Thomas caught the ball in deep centre and was declared out by Assistant Umpire McDonald. He could have made third easily if he had alted for the out and could also have scored on Foster's long fly to Deiehanty. In the eighth Warner and Gleason reached third and second respectively, with one out. Pitcher Fifield was up in the air when O Brien came to bat, but, acting upon the cool-headed advice of Deiehanty, he purposely gave four balls to New York's left fielder. Then Hartman hit to Cross, and a fast double play shut off the would-be run makers.

The Philadelphias kicked hard over one decision, and went so far as to shake their fists. It was alleged by them that Warner held Cross's arm in the fifth, thereby preventing the latter from completing a double play. Both Emslie and McDonald refused to yield to such an argument and there was war for several minutes. Two men were out in Philadelphia's second inning when Fishel gave bases on buils to Cross, Fiffeld and Cooley in quick succession. Then Thomas and Delehanty made hits which cent all three runners home. An error by Gleason was responsible for the visitors' run in the third.

In the third

The New Yorks made their only runs, three in all, in the fifth, on hits by Foster, Fishel and Warner, a base on balls, a wild throw by Cross and a force. The entire Philadelphia team went to the bat in the uinth and clinched the game with three more runs. Cooley's base on balls and steal, an out, hits by Delehanty, Lajoie and Flick, Warner's poor throw, a base on balls and a hit batsman did the business. The score:

THE COLUMBIA INSPECTED. C. Oliver Iselin Pleased with the Progress on the New Yacht.

PROVIDENCE, R. 1., May 3.-Yesterday C. Oliver Iselin visited Bristol to inspect the work on the new cup defender, Columbia. He was well pleased with the progress of construction. He said that the bont was very nearly plated and that the deck of the craft would be planked in about ten days. He could not tell the exact date on which the Columbia would be launched. It might be the latter part of this month, but no date had been decided upon. In the matter that no arrangements had been made and that he did not know who would officiate. As to painting the topsides, he said that the matter had not been fully decided, and he was not pre-pared to say how the boat would appear when launched.

pared to say how the boat would appear when launched.

In speaking about the yacht Defender, Mr. Iselin said that he had turned the crait over to the management of Butler Duncan, Jr., who is shortly coming to Bristol. The Defender will be rigged and placed in commission as soon as possible now that the craw is on board.

Mr. Iselin said the work of making the sails for the Columbia is progressing nicely, and that they will soon be finished. Capt. Urias Rhodes will be sailing master of the yacht Defender. Mr. Iselin's steward, who was on the steamer Hattie Palmer four years ago, was in Bristol yesterday securing cooking utensils for the yacht Defender. He is to be on board the steamer St. Michaels this season, as that is the tender to be used for the Columbia.

Twenty clubs and 280 players are listed of the first handicap of the season sent out by the Polo Association yesterday. Eight players are named from the newly organized Lakewood Polo Club. P. F. Collier, R. F. Collier, James Converse, Kingdon Gould, Frank J. Gould, George J. Gould, Raymond L. Herbert and Jay Gould. As yet only the two Colliers are penalized, each at two goals, the others having still to earn their spurs on the polo field. The listto earn their spurs on the polo field. The listing of the club gives strength to the rumor that on the completion of the polo field now well under way there will be autumn and spring polo tournaments at Lakewood. The listing of the Jacksonville Polo Club is also an indication that tournaments are to be introduced during the winter in Florida. Nine players are named by the Florida club. Few changes have been made in the handleaps of the better class of players, but the reductions in the ratings of the minor players at many of the clubs are more frequent than usual on the spring list. Ten players are listed from the new Somerset County Polo Club, headed by Charles Pfizer, Jr., and R. L. Stevens, at 2 and 1 goal penalities.

The prizes at the Meadowbrook Club tournating of the club are more frequent than usual on the spring list.

The prizes at the Meadowbrook Club tournament, May 15 to 27, will be the Meadowbrook cups, for teams having an aggregate handicap over twenty goals, and the Hempstead cups, for teams of which no individual handleap exceeds five goals. The right to withdraw the cups is reserved unless three or more teams materialize. Entries close on Saturday. At the Country Club of Westchester tournament, May 29 to June 10, the events will be for the Westchester cups, for teams whose aggregate handicap is twenty or over; the Country Club cups, for teams whose aggregate handicap does not sceed twelve goals. Entries for the team events close on May 10 and for the Beeckman cups at the post. The cups at the two tournaments are individual prizes.

PRINCETON, May 3.-The schedule of games to be played by the Princeton University foot-ball team next fall was given out to-day by Manager Robinson. The games this year have been arranged with a view of reaping the best financial results possible, notably the contests with the Maryland Athletic Club at Baltimore and the Carlisle Indians at New York, neither of which will be played on college grounds. which was the reason given for taking the annual Yale-Princeton game out of New York. As the crowds that attend a home game are usually small, and the visiting teams generally ask for large guarantees, only six games will be played at Princeton next season, and these, with the exception of the Brown contest, will with the exception of the Brown contest, will be of poor quality, so that to see the best games scheduled it will be necessary for the students to follow the team out of town.

The University of Virginia team is dropped and new games are taken on with Columbia. Carlisle Indians, Washington and Jefferson and North Carolina University. The features of the schedule are the two games to be played in New York city and the resumption of football relations with the Carlisle Indians, who refused to meet the Tigers last season on account of a rough game the year before. The spring football practice, which had been arranged for by Capt. Edwards, ended in a fizzle this week on account of the small number of candidates that reported. Preparations for the work had been made on an elaborate scale, and it was intended to have Howard Brekaw and Fred L. Smith of the 1st championship team at Princeton to coach the men, but the entire lack of interest shown in the scheme by the players has compelled the management to abandon it.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

TCLISTS HAVE TROUBLE IN CROSS-ING THE BRIDGE SAFELY.

Men, Declare Allegiance to the N. C. A. -Bicycle Cops Go Pacemaking on a Quint for Roundsman Schuessler's Benefit. Accidents to cyclists on the bridge in which hurt in some other shocking manner are made public, but there are scores of minor mishaps occurring on the big span all the time which demonstrate the urgent need of action on the part of the authorities in building a eyele path. Yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock a truck that was heavily laden with sacks of coffee or grain got stalled on the main span near the middle of the north road-way. In swinging the horses to the left so as to get them started the driver guided them across the trolley tracks, and a wheelman, who was trying to pass between the truck and a trolley car, was thrown. His blevele went under the car and was smashed by the rear wheel, but he escaped with only a few bruises. He put his demolished cycle in a delivery wagon and went away without leaving his name or show. ing any intention of seeking redress. In fact, his behavior suggested that he took it philosophiculty in the belief that on the bridge "everything goes." A truckman behind who saw the accident remarked that it was the wheelman's own fault, as he had no business

In discussing needed improvements of the parks and parkways Commissioner Brower of Kings and Queens counties is reported to advocate the building of a tunnel under the east side lands and the pinza, in order to enable the driving public to reach Prospect Park without having to cross car tracks. The Commissioner admitted that this was a favorite nisn of his, but one that could not be completed for some time to come. The mention of this scheine has brought out a suggestion for a much simpler improvement that has been needed for a long while. A Brooklynite, who is both a horseman and a cyclist, put it very forcibly in this wise:

"What is the use of discussing visionary tunnels and work that is impossible at present, when a little bit of practical work would do instead? Let us have something now that we can enjoy, and let our grandchildren work out such an idea as a tunnel. From Washington avenue, where the brick pavement is, it is one whort block across the east side lands to Flathush avenue and the Willink entrance to the tark. Or Gate 2; as it is officially called. A atreet has been surveyed there, and it appears on the city maps as Washington lace. It is only 400 or 500 feet long, but it has never been opened.

"Put Washington place in condition and the wheelmen and the driving public would receive ready access to the park and would not bother about the trolley tracks on Flatbush avenue. Now the wheelmen have to ride down to; the end of the brick road, turn into Flatbush avenue for a couple of long blocks and then go through Fort Hamilton avenue to the path alongside the park. This is a long detour that would be done away with if Washington place was cut through. The evelists would be willing enough to lead their wheels across the Plaza where the trolley car crowds are on Sunday, as it would be only a couple of hundred feet they would have to walk before they would be not he occan

Regarding the quantities of broken glass in the streets a new explanation of how it gets there that calls for attention on the part of wheelmen and the authorities, who are trying wheelmen and the authorities, who are trying to prevent its appearance, comes from George W. Bennett, President of the Cycle Board of Trade of Long Island. He writes The Sun as follows:

"I have taken the trouble to satisfy myself where this glass comes from. I noticed that by far the larger portion of the glass was of the blue variety used in bottles, but it struck me that bottles are too expensive to be thrown around so freely, so I kept on the lookout. I that bottles are too expensive to be thrown around so freely, so I kept on the lookout. I discovered the secret on the brick pavement of Washington avenue, which has had the finest crop of broken glass during the spring in the greater city. It comes from the spring in the greater city. It comes from the insulators on the telephone poles. The telephone company, when it is making repairs or additions which necessitate new cross-arms with insulators, carts those cross-arms to wherever they are wanted and lays them down alongside the pole on which they are to be used. The ubiquitous small boy finds them, and discovers that the insulators are only serewed on the tegs. The cross-arms that were put up on Washington avenue this spring lost their insulators with beautiful regularity. This thing should be stopped, and could be if the telephone company was more careful and the pollee more settive.

A prominent eyeler suggests a novel idea for improving the conditions of the sport and getting rid of the troubles arising out of the division of the men into amateurs and professionals by abolishing both grades and letting them all compete together. He says:

There is no need for the distinction of amateur and professional in eyele racing and to attempt to make one is farcial. It never has been successful and never will. Abolish both divisions and let the men ride as bieyele racers in time classes and I am willing to bet that the game will boom. If money prizes were offered the genuine amateurs could take the cash and buy a prize for themselves and would do so, as true amateurs do in other lines of sport. My idea is that time classes, open to all having records within the mark, would make exciting races. There are a lot of allow professionals and a lot of first amateurs. Time classes would grade the men right, but amateurism and professionals who cannot ride better than 2:20, for instance, and a bunch of amateurs who can do as well, what reason is there why they should not ride together and make a spritted flight? The separation of the men by time classes only is to my mind the logical solution of the problem and the one that must come."

C. cross-country team, has resigned from that organization in consequence of the trouble over that organization in consequence of the trouble over the team race with the Star A. C. on last Sunday. Estopper, who has been the liveliest figure in cross-country circles hereabouts during the past season, has quite a large following. He has stready organized a club on unique lines, which he declares will be a primerent factor in future athletic competitions. The new club, which has twenty-five charter members, is uamed the Shamrook Harriers. A golden gate with a green chamrock crossing the bars has been selected as the emblem. The headquarters will be at Van Cortland Park for the purpose of cross-country work, which will be the chief object of the members.

In order to eater more fully to track athletes in Greater New York and vicinity, the promoter has arranged for the use of a cinder track here and also for the use of one on Long Island. Estopper intends to complete his circuit of tracks by the subsidy of another in Jersey City. He hopes to supply these advantages to Shamrook men for 50 cents a month. Members will be supplied with emblems and athletic suits and will be required to wear the "Shamrook and Gate" in all competitions in which they take part. Special inducements will be offered to schoolboys. Estoppey has declared the allegiance of the new club to the A. A. U. and has applied to Secretary Sullivan for particulars of the requirements necessary to join. the team race with the Star A. C. on last Sunday

Morris County Links Opened for the Senson -- More Entries at the Crescent A. C. Women had the distinction of swinging clubs in the first competition of the season at the Morris County Golf Club vesterday. The course had been closed since the autumn and was in grand condition after the long rest. A number of improvements were noted; for instance, the spreading tree in the direct line of play to the eleventh hole has been razed and will no longer punish a fair drive, while every bunker has been extended, either by carrying out the cop at either end or by putting in sand pits, so that faint-hearted players may no longer play to go around without being surely pen-alized. The prize was the "Short Course Cup." the competition being the first of a series to be played over the first five and the last four holes of the full links. Few of the women had touched their clubs during the winter, and on touched their clubs during the winter, and on that account the scores were on the high side, yet Miss Kip, Mrs. Shippen and Miss Willis, who had the lowest ratings in the handleap, played very well when their lack of practice is considered. Each had a 4 for the second hole, which, although only 167 yards, requires a tee shot to the green on a high bank, while Miss Bryce and Mrs. Shippen made the first hole in a par 4. The tie for first place will be played off later. The cards:

Supplementary entries have brought the number eligible to start in the eighteen-hole qualifying round at the Crescent A. C. open tournament up to fifty. Most prominent of the entries are Findiny S. Douglas and R. C. Watson, Jr., who will renew their Lakewood rivairy, in which the latter had the better of it. The turits much better than on the links they met on last, but the Crescent course otherwise is not so favorable for free, open golf, for the streets that cut through narrow the line of play on several of the fair greens. To gain distance the putting greens have in most cases been placed on the edge of the club grounds, often on the bank above a street or avenue, so that care must be taken not to over-approach. But the putting greens with two exceptions, are unusually large and well turfed, and unless unduly reckless, there is no reason why a player should overrun. The supplementary entries are:

F. S. Douglas, Fairfield: B. C. Watson, Jr., Westbrook: John Moorhead, Jr., Aliegheny Country, L. Daniels, Dyker Madow: E. O. Mitchell, Powelton, Paul B. Gooke, Harbor Hill; Warren S. Banks, Staten Island Crescet. N. M. Imon Shaffer, A., Arisley, N. M. Laughin, Pritsburg: Sidney Maddock and G. B. Alsan, Crescent A. C. W. Bongree and F. M. Freeman, Fairfield; George Worthington, Mount Anthony.

Authony.

The out-of-town players will put up at the Crescent A. C. country house, at Bay Ridge, during the tournament. Chadwick, who made a 51 and 45: Bowler, who accred 49 and 47: Toffey, who had 48 and 45: Freeman, Mitchell, Clark, Compton, with Van Brunt, Taylor, Bouns and others of the resident players, were on the links vesterday. The scores do not tell much, for the rough winter greens were still in use, and the visitors were most intent on studying the country, yet Toffey and Chadwick both showed that they are driving a long ball and placing their shots well through the green. The Greens Committee has changed the local rule for the tournament, so that a ball driven out of bounds from a tee, fair green or hazard, may be dropped back with only the loss of the stroke played.
